

Openbank attends the 82nd edition of the Madrid Book Fair

- On 26-28 May, Openbank is to host a series of activities through the Nota al pie reading club it runs in collaboration with Vanity Fair.
- Fernando Aramburu, Luz Gabás, Jacobo Bergareche and Jesús Terrés are just some of the authors taking part in the activities.

Openbank, the 100% digital bank of the Santander Group, participates for a second consecutive year at the Madrid Book Fair. This major cultural event hosts over 600 publishers and nearly 400 stands in the famous El Retiro Park from 26 May to 11 June 2023. Numerous figures from the world of literature and publishing take part in the event every year.

On 26-28 May, participants will be able to enjoy an extensive programme of events organised by Nota al pie, the Openbank and Vanity Fair reading club, including appearances by renowned authors such as Fernando Aramburu, winner of Spain's National Literature Prize for Narrative for Patria, Luz Gabás, winner of the 2022 Planeta Award, and Jacobo Bergareche, writer, producer and scriptwriter.

The activities organised by the bank and Vanity Fair will also feature a live recording of the Nota al pie podcast, book signings, roundtables and talks, held at a range of locations in central Madrid, including El Madroño book signing platform and the Eugenio Trías library (Paseo de Fernán Núñez, 24), both located within El Retiro itself, as well as at the Casa Árabe auditorium in Calle Alcalá, 61.
